

The End. Or is it?

Hey reading community,

Congratulations! You have accomplished a major victory today—you read through the entire Bible in one year! We know this is your last day, and although it seems like the end, it's just the beginning. John wrote this book for the churches in Asia Minor who had been subjected to Roman rule and persecution near the end of the 1st century A.D.

This letter challenged these followers of Jesus to stand strong against persecution and remember that evil would not have the final word. This is what Revelation is all about. The end of this book takes time to depict the incredible future hope for those who follow Jesus. In our final reading, John records a beautiful vision of a renewed Heaven and Earth. Our hope in the future is made possible by King Jesus.

BibleProject

Final Day: Read Revelation 21-22, Psalm 48.

Read Revelation 21-22: A New Heaven & A New Earth.
